Purgatory Colder'n Hades

SUTTON - They had to turn the heat up in Purgatory this year as hundreds of area residents gathered for the annual Labor Day breakfast sponsored by the First Congregational Church at Purgatory Chasm Park. This Labor Day morning the piping hot coffee was especially welcome as breakfasters braved 45 degree temperatures to dine on eggs, hot cakes and ham. In spite of the thermometer reading, spirits were warm.

Facing the camera (l-r) Herbie Ribb, Corina Belisle, Virginia Ribb, Arthur Belisle, Rita Kalagher and Ray Kalagher, all members of the Millbury Council on Aging.

Schooning, [illegible] Ackman travelling com[illegible] in the [illegible] of his mother, Pat.

Visiting from Worcester was former Sutton resident Mike Suchocki saying hello to long time friend Shirley Johnson, of Boston Road, who was busy selling tickets for the breakfast.

Fire Chief's Removal Discussed

By Alec G. Belisle

MILLBURY - Several weeks ago, Millbury's Board of Fire Engineers, at their annual reorganization meeting, replaced Thomas Nault as fire chief on a 3-2 vote. Replacing Nault was Philip Day, a 24-year veteran of the department. Voting for Day were Engineers Joseph Kosiba, John Donnelly, and Day. Voting for Nault were Engineers Oran David Matson and Nault. The town's charter provides for the five fire engineers, who are appointed every year by the selectmen, to elect each year one from among the five to be fire chief.

In an interview, Nault, who was visibly upset over his ouster, said he felt he had performed his duties as chief with distinction and felt his replacement was without cause. According to Nault, no discussion took place prior to or following the 3-2 vote in Day's favor. "They have the reasons for the change," Nault said. "I think the onus is on them to say why."

Nault said that during his nine years as chief, he stressed fire prevention and training and believes that he has had a positive impact on the department, representing it in a professional manner. He also said that his duty as chief was first to protect the residents and the community and that his actions were always based upon that principle. He said he has tried to combine the theoretical with the practical side of fire fighting which has become very technical in nature.

Nault completed his associate's degree in Fire Science at Quinsigamond Community College.

First Assistant Engineer Oran David Matson, who voted for Nault's reappointment said he felt Nault possessed the knowledge and the ability to manage the affairs of the department and has given the position the significant amount of time it requires. He also said he was pleased with Nault's performance and saw no reason to remove him.

Nault speculated on a number of reasons the voting may have gone as it did, including questions relating to mutual aid calls, statements he made that appeared in the newspaper, and Nault's belief that the town should have a full time fire department.

Nault acknowledged that he has occasionally gotten himself into trouble by comments made before the press. "I got in trouble with the selectmen one year when we had a small turnout for a fire," he explained. "(Selectman) Roland Lachance asked me if we were out of business and I said, 'Well we're not out of business, it's more like the department's out to lunch.' And the context was we're running short staffed like if you go to the bank at noontime and you see long lines because people are out for lunch and some of the tellers are out to lunch. They way I said it, everybody in the audience laughed. It was a joke. The next day, the headline in the Worcester paper reads, 'Chief Says Department Out to Lunch.' A lot of guys were pretty unhappy about that."

Nault said he was also criticized by some members of the department for a quote on the same fire that had him saying a full time department could have done a better job. "What was said was, a full time department could have gotten there sooner. Nobody can fault our response time."

We The People...

Where's the Logic?

To the Editor:

I am not so much opposed to the distribution of condoms to high school kids as I am concerned with the second-rate logic that stipulates such distribution. It is very much like saying, "Well, if you insist on walking into that burning house, let me, at least, hose you down." or "All right, if you insist on driving at a high rate of speed into that large tree, at least allow me to buckle your seat belt." or "Now if it's that important to you to stand in the line of fire of that machine gun, at least put on this flak-jacket."

Now we all know that for many in our society -- especially the media -- it's important to push, push, push for the ultimate sexual freedom, (whatever that is). And they do all they can to make people who stand on the abstinence side of the issue look like moronic fogies with nothing better to do than condemn other people's expressions of pleasure. But do we honestly suppose that they take this role because they love our children? Does a loving mother say to her child, "Very well, if you insist on jumping off the edge of this cliff, at least tie this rope around your neck."?

The bottom line has been and still is: sex can be dangerous and sex with more than one partner is dangerous. If you have sex in your teens, you might die before your twenties. If, on the other hand, you abstain from sex until you reach the mature decision that you are with the person you intend to make a life-long commitment to, and you then have sex with that person only, you will probably be alive to enjoy sex for many years to come. Abstinence in sex related issues is no less foolish or "fogyish" than abstinence logic in drinking and driving issues.

A radio station in Boston features a public service announcement in which they suggest that if you are planning to drink and drive in the near future, you should send them a card saying so, and if you are then killed in a drinking related accident, they will pay all funeral expenses. Then they add, "Sound stupid? So does drinking and driving." Now I commend that radio station. They know where it's at. Drinking and driving logic is ill. And so is any logic that encourages kids to keep on having sex: only be sure to wear condoms. It's right up there with the kind of logic that would cause one to say, "okay, if you insist on tying those cement blocks to your feet and jumping into the lake, at least put this plastic bag over your head so you won't take any water in."

Peace and joy,

Rev. J. Clifford Davis, Jr.

With respect to a full time department, Nault said there should be some full time people because it would be best for the community, "although not necessarily what's best for the fire department. A lot of people in the department take exception to that because they think they are doing a good job - and they are doing a good job," he said. "But there are certain standards that we are bound by. If there's a big building fire at 10:00 a.m. tomorrow morning, and lives are in jeopardy, are we going to have an adequate response? Probably, but I can't guarantee it and I think it's incumbent on the town to guarantee it. When Felter's and High Carbon were running three shifts you had a lot more guys working in town who could fight the fires."

With respect to mutual aid, Nault said, "If members of the fire department are upset because they think I'm calling mutual aid because I don't have any confidence in their abilities, that's not it at all," he said. "My responsibilities are first of all to the property owner and to the town secondly. All fires are beyond the scope of some departments, whether it's Worcester or Boston, and they call mutual aid on a regular basis because of the scope of the situation. I've heard of people being criticized for not calling mutual aid fast enough, but I've never, ever, heard of being criticized for calling. In the classes that I've attended, one of the things they stress is to call mutual aid before you're going to need it because if you wait, by the time they get there it's too late to do any good."

Those engineers who voted for Day chose not to go on record with any specific complaints about Nault's years of service.

Chief Day feels well qualified for the position and said he has served his apprenticeship as a firefighter, lieutenant, captain, and as a fire engineer. He said he felt proud of his years of service.

Day also said he has philosophical differences with Nault over the running of the department. He said that Nault was fully aware that he and other engineers disagreed with "some of his (Nault's) actions" as far back as 1989. He said that the engineers gave him time to address these differences and felt that this year, it was time for a change.

Fire Engineer Joseph Kosiba echoed Day's sentiments, adding that he has confidence in Day's administrative and fire fighting abilities. He said that Day responds to 99% of the calls and is a dedicated firefighter. Kosiba, likewise refusing to give any specifics, said he disagreed with some of Nault's actions and feels that Day's administration will work well with what Kosiba said is one of the best trained fire departments in the area.

Fire Engineer John Donnelly said he had supported Nault over the past years but felt that "certain changes" had to be made. He said that when these changes did not occur to the engineers' satisfaction, "a change was made."

Donnelly also said that Day, because he is self-employed in Millbury, is available all day and answers most of the fire calls as the command officer. He said he decided to support Day because he felt Day had the time, knowledge, and ability to do the job.

Jude Cristo, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, explained that the selectmen appoint five firefighters to the board of fire engineers knowing that any one of the five could become the next fire chief. He said it would be inappropriate for the selectmen to elect the engineers and then say that one engineer is not qualified for the position.

Cristo also said that, to his knowledge, the board does not plan on interfering with the Board of Fire Engineers' decision. The selectmen have received several letters asking them to request that the fire engineers reconsider their votes and reinstate Nault. Cristo said that to criticize the engineers' choice would be to erode the town's confidence in the board's decision to appoint any of the fire engineers.

On The Shelf

By Rosemary Waltos

Did you know that the Millbury Public Library offers instant camera loans? While there are plenty of good reasons for going to the Millbury Public Library, from borrowing great novels to attending workshops and lectures (all free of charge), you can also look towards the library to borrow Polaroid instant cameras for free.

You might ask, what are cameras doing in the public library? Like books-on-tape, musical recordings, videotapes, 8mm films, cassette players and cameras, they are here for the public to use and enjoy. Library users have borrowed cameras to take pictures of family get-togethers and vacations. Some patrons have used them to keep a record of their home inventory for insurance purposes. The library has used these cameras to capture the events and activities occurring at the library for future generations to enjoy.

Since 1985, the Millbury Public Library has been a participant in "Check This Out," a program providing free instant cameras to public libraries throughout the United States. The cameras, which are from the Polaroid 600 series, feature built-in electronic flash and one-button operation. Sponsored by the Customer Service Division of Polaroid Corporation, the program is being offered in cooperation with the American Library Association.

According to program manager Lynda J. Wilson, the idea of borrowing a camera from the library isn't as unusual as it may seem. "Libraries offer a wide variety of services and materials to patrons," she said. "Instant cameras are a natural for an information-oriented facility like the public library.

Peggy Barber, Director of Public Information for the ALA, said, "This is the first time that a corporation has made a commitment on this scale to the nation's libraries. When times are tough and library budgets tight, we hope other companies will follow Polaroid's example."

In July, Polaroid donated another two, new, easy-to-use, one step flash 600 series instant cameras to the library. Ask about the availability of cameras in the adult services area of the library. Cameras are available on a first-come, first-serve basis, and can be borrowed for the regular two-week loan period. Film is not included with cameras, but is available locally. Prices do vary, so it pays to shop around.

For information about borrowing other equipment available on loan to groups and individuals, call the library at 865-1181. Library hours: Tuesday-Thursday, 10-8; Friday, 10-6; Saturday, 10-1.

Family Nature Day

SUTTON - The Sutton PTA Nature Trail Committee will sponsor Family Nature Day on Sunday, September 15, from 2-4 p.m. at the Cedar Swamp Nature Trail (located behind the Sutton Elementary School on Boston Road). Activities will be organized beginning at the trail entrance and along the trail, including family ponding, a family scavenger hunt, and nature crafts and lessons. Children are to be with an adult. In case of rain, Family Nature Day will be canceled.

Spruce-up day for the trail will be on Saturday, September 7, from 9 a.m. to noon. Boots, gloves and pruning tools are recommended.

Teddy Bear Clinic at Vet School Open House

GRAFTON - Tufts New England Veterinary Medical Center will open its stalls, kennels, cages, pastures and hospital doors for its 8th annual open house on Saturday, September 28, at 200 Westboro Road. The event is free and open to the public.

From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., visitors will be able to take self-guided tours and view veterinary exhibits and presentations throughout the hospitals, as well as demonstrations of dog obedience training, horseshoeing, police horses and dogs, and more.

For young children there will be a farm animal petting zoo, hay rides, pony rides, and a teddy bear clinic.

As a special attraction, the New England Miniature Horse Society will hold an all-day mini-horse show on the campus. More than 100 mini-horses, a breed that grows to a maximum height of only 34 inches at the withers, are expected to compete in driving, conformation and jumping classes.

Reading Aloud Workshop

MILLBURY - The Millbury Parents' Club and the Millbury Public Schools will sponsor a workshop by Dr. Brendan Walsh on Tuesday, September 17, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Media Center at the R.E. Shaw School, Elmwood Street. Walsh's topic will be "The Wonders of Reading Aloud."

Walsh is in his fifth year as a lecturer on this topic. He is also the Director of the Chapter 1 Program in the Salem public schools and the father of two school-age children. He speaks of reading aloud from the perspective of both a parent and an educator. "The Wonder of Reading Aloud" is a workshop which informs, encourages and challenges parents and teachers to read aloud regularly with children.

Among the activities included in the workshop are commentaries on "The Read-Aloud Handbook," written by Jim Trelease and other read-aloud guides; readings from some of the best of the read-alouds, advice on what makes a good read-aloud, and recommendations for all age levels. Those attending will have ample time following the discussion to browse through Walsh's book collection and talk with the speaker.

The public is invited to attend the workshop, which promises to be both entertaining and informative. For further information, contact Carole Chiras or Judy Toscano at the Shaw School or call 865-3541.

Moore's R&D Tax Credit Concept Signed into Law

BOSTON - Passage of a Research and Development (R&D) tax credit to stimulate additional research activity and create jobs in Massachusetts is a significant step toward restoring the Massachusetts economy, according to Rep. Richard T. Moore (D-Uxbridge). Moore was a major sponsor, along with the Massachusetts High Technology Council, of the legislation that led to the passage of the new R&D tax credit law.

"Research and development activity is the core ingredient of product innovation and production improvements which increase efficiency and reduce costs," said Moore. "This R&D tax credit will have a significant, and long term, impact on economic growth in Massachusetts, creating needed jobs and generating revenue."

"Those promoting business development in Massachusetts can proudly proclaim that Massachusetts has the best R&D tax credit of any state in the union while they're visiting potential job creators and investors in the Far East in the next few weeks," said Howard P. Foley, President of the Massachusetts High Technology Council. "We are very appreciative of Representative Moore's leadership in helping to achieve passage of this important measure," Foley added.

"This is a very specific, very tangible economic development initiative which will put Massachusetts in a more favorable position for future R&D investment decisions," said J.P. Barger, President and Chief Executive Officer of Dynatech Corporation, a leading supplier of high technology products, which provides research and development services to government and industrial clients in the fields of chemical and mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, and applied physics.

Lt. Governor Paul Cellucci recently signed a fiscal 1992 supplement budget which included legislation clarifying provisions of the new tax credit law. The legislation was originally signed into law by Governor Weld as part of the Fiscal 1992 budget.

The tax credit applies to expenditures on increased research and development in Massachusetts made on or after January 1, 1991.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

Back to school! Back to work! Summer is just about over and the routines of life are in full swing again. I know we here on Farnsworth Court are going to be quite busy on Sunday, September 8th. It will be Rally Day in our Sunday School which will begin at 8:45 with a lot of singing and introduction of our teachers and our new classes. Then it will be worship at 10:00 when everyone in attendance will be welcomed with a lei to follow our theme of "An Island in the Son." Then, at 11:00, we will go out to the Common where there will be games followed by a pot-blessing picnic. In the afternoon, we will be attending the reception for our neighbor, the Rev. Clifford Davis, at Millbury Federated Church. To top off the day, we will be having a sing-a-long on the Common or in the Church, depending on the weather, at 6:00 p.m. Doesn't that sound just about like your own schedule these days?

The most wonderful 15 years of my life were those I spent in school; I have also done another eight wonderful years in college and seminary. Fifteen years, I spent two years in both kindergarten and the fifth grade, and it was all for free. Imagine it. Not costing me anything but myself to become a better person.

Young people, get all of this free education you can get. It is not your right, it is your privilege. One young lady said she wanted to transfer to technical school but she would have to stay back a year to do so. Stay back and get all of this free education you can get. College will cost you tens of thousands; this is for free.

Right now I am reading the book of Proverbs in my Bible. "Get wisdom, get understanding also...." For me, the greatest Wisdom has been my personal relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ as my own personal Savior and Lord. Amen.

Here & There Bits 'N Pieces

. . . by Joe Morin

BONJOURS, MES AMIS! Warm enough for ya? Last winter we couldn't wait for warmer weather, now we've had it, more to come! And we still gripe. People are now talking about Autumn...its cooler weather and colors. Good grief! Will we ever be satisfied, pleased with what the Good Lord gives us? Guess we wouldn't be human if we didn't complain; always dissatisfied. Oh well, time, weather, griping marches on, c'est la vie! Guess that if "we can't stand the heat, go to Alaska!"...but who can afford it? O.K me buckoes, let's get on with the show!

GOING FIRST CLASS! YUPP! Business must be booming what with the "old market" in town putting on a new face; the renovation of the Medical Center there on Elm Street, first class, all the way. I'm telling you, Millbury is getting there.

SIGN OF THE TIMES? Seems there's more and more people looking for bargains at Flea Markets. Things look bad out there! T'ain't funny , McGee!

PERUSING the Millbury Annual Town reports, we were astonished to find out how many it takes, how much it costs to run the town. A lotta people, a lotta loot! Good grief, we're almost a city! Parking meters next? Hope we don't get too big for our "bridges!"

NOT TOO BRIGHT! Yours truly doesn't know the difference between a 'coon and a possum! Yupp! In past columns we mentioned the fact that there were "a lot of 'coons " running around and being run over. Our mistake. A closer look showed that they were possums, not raccoons! Guess we "city slickers" ain't so smart after all! Mea culpa!...

HOW ABOUT THIS ONE - Forget about Bonnie and Clyde! Lawmen from Seattle have been calling Jane Lunbeck and her all-women dumpster divers the bank robbery ring of the 90's. Yupp! She and her gang members didn't make their money busting through back doors brandishing machine guns. Nope! They did it the hard way...they'd go through the dumpster behind the bank looking for stuff...loan applications, credit reports, signature cards, deposit slips and thousands of checks. The gang used throwaways to tap bank accounts of unsuspecting customers for at least $250,000 (Paraphrased from the Wall St. Journal). A LOT OF STUFF, some good collectibles, others nothing but junk, flooding the market in conjunction with Desert Storm. Knives, guns, video ripped off from CNN, all being sold as "Treasures to Keep!" A lot of money grubbers are making a mint on others' suffering. Praise the Lord! And Pass the Ammunition!

"THE quickest way to get back on your feet is to get down on your knees."

CAUGHT FOR SPEEDING? Richard Ross was arrested and charged with drunk driving - of his motorized wheelchair. The mounties said he was "driving" down the street with more than the legal limit of alcohol in his blood. Ross can lose the use of his "motor vehicle" for three months under Canadian law.

WHY DO JOGGERS INSIST ON RUNNING IN TRAFFIC RATHER THAN PARKING IT ON THE SIDEWALKS?

YA NEVER KNOW! Wanted something to munch on with a glass of milk one evening. Dropped by my kitchen, picked up what I thought was an ol' fashioned molasses cookie, you know, wrapped in a cellophane pouch! Took a bite, Mamma Mia! Hard as a rock! It was one of those darn "dog cookies!" Looked at PeeWee, me mutt, he had quite a grin on him, if mutts do grin! Ya gotta be careful around the house.

LET'S GET WITH IT MR. PRES - Yupp, we think it's time you unpack your suitcases, give 'em a rest and start paying attention to domestic problems. The Bozo shysters in Washington have given themselves a hefty raise - put 'em all to work now. Let them earn their keep! We've had it, Mr. Pres. Let's get with it! Now!

I DIDN'T KNOW THAT: garlic rubbed on the soles of feet will be noticeable on the breath in one hour; that the purple dye used in the U.S. to stamp meat is made from grape skins; that in many European hospitals the first food given to patients after their abdominal surgery is champagne! Yupp! It's the only form of nourishment, they say, that the stomach can hold after an operation.

A NEW COUNTRY has been added on the "Save the Children" Foundation appeal! Yupp! The United States of America. Contributions are now being accepted. Millions spent for parades, rockets, studies on the sex life of kangaroos, art, etc. Our priorities are so screwed up, it's pathetic...PRES. BUSH has a better foreign policy than a domestic one. In fact, he has no domestic policy! More attention, money is diverted over there, than over here! For a country that's low on funds, programs, we manage to keep the other countries going...Good Grief!

GOTCHA!! C'MON, QUEENIE! ANTI UP - Queen Liz II may soon be paying her fair share in taxes. She receives over 35 million a year from private investments that she will have to pay taxes on if some politicians have their way; but she will not have to pay a tax on the annual $12.7 mil she gets from the government...

DOESN'T MAKE SENSE AT ALL - The Dipsticks in Washington say the only way we'll get out of this Recession (Depression?) is for the people to get out there and spend, spend, spend! How in the hell can they? No Work! They're still taxing the hell out of us! Young Joe Kennedy is backing a graduated income tax! How dumb can they be? How naive, irresponsible they are. Dump'em all!

EXCEDRIN HEADACHE NO.24 - Something else to worry about, if you're the worrying type! Yupp, they say there's a meteor heading toward this globe of ours! When it hits, no one knows. Oh, don't worry, we'll know. But they can't set a time, year...So all we can ask is that you scan the skies now and then, when you see this huge hunk of rock heading toward you, make peace with the Lord and head for cover!

HOLY KILOWATTS!!! Have you taken a good look at your electric bill recently? Notice the breakdown on your bill? Customer charge, usage charge, fuel charge, OCA charge, ECS charge? What's going on at the Kilowatt Office???

UNBELIEVABLE... The report from the AP that the financially strapped Blue Cross-Shield of Mass. paid a consultant $12 million last year for advice on how to run the organization "more efficiently!" Hard to believe, isn't it? And how about that story from Baltimore way about that guy who was caught embezzling over $7 million from some bank, or banks? He got a two year prison sentence, SUSPENDED, but was given a "you are confined to your home, for one month." You steal a loaf of bread and the skunk will sentence you to Federal Prison at hard labor! Justice in these United States should hang her head in shame. These stories should be included in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" series...I mean, friend, we've hit rock bottom. No place to go, but up! This just can't go on. As we say in French: "T'aint funny McGee!"

IT HAD TO COME OUT...sooner or later. We speak of the new garlic pill that is now on the market. We mentioned the glories and the health attributes that garlic has, so now the pill pushers decided to get in on the act. Voila! The Garlic Pill. Odor free! Wonder if it will work in my spaghetti sauce? Good Grief!

TOTALLY DISCOMBOBULATED...Wow! Did I write that? Yupp! How many of us are totally confused, in a quandary of what comes forth out of the medical world. One day this is good for you, the next, keep away from it, drink this, no, you better not...discontinue this medication...try this...don't take this, you'll get diarrhea...milk is good for you...goats milk, that is, cow milk is taboo! Jog, exercise, no, it's bad for your heart; a human being doesn't stand a chance! What to do? Take your medicine, listen to the doc, and keep your fingers crossed.

DIS 'n DAT - Sad to see all the problems those big macho athletes are in. But they were warned, keep the heck away from steroids! Now they are paying the consequences. We were taught years ago that spinach was the best thing going for ya!...

FIFTY BILLION, yupp, that's right, 50 billion dollars will be the cost for 40 new destroyers. Is that counting the overrun, overcosts, graft and embezzlement? But we can afford it right? GOOD NEWS!...Red Wine could lower your cholesterol when taken in moderation...Yahoo!

Paul Harvey is a fountain of facts: IN TURKEY, a thief had his hand cut off! A man was caught fooling around with his neighbor's wife. He said he was an "honorable man" and wanted to do the right thing, so he got his machete and...Good Grief! A FARMER from Ontario believes that cows running around in their own droppings is unsightly and could be cause for illness - he made boots for the cows, yellow with black edging. How about that?

FROM A YEARBOOK INSCRIPTION: "A Parent's best wishes...Our tribute, dear graduate son: Robbie - To whom College was more than a hobby; - Our hearts proudly swell - As we've watched you excel, We applaud you! Now go find a Jobbie!" (R.Hayden, R. Digest)

SOME SCHOOL DISTRICTS are curbing, to an extent, the use of computers by the kiddos! Yupp! They're forgetting how to write! Unable to hold a pencil now. True! I kid you not...

LET'S TALK TURKEY! SHAME! SHAME!... Those parents, especially the mom who is thinking about suing the Boy Scouts of America for not accepting their cute little girl into the Boy Scout Program. Hey, Lady, what's wrong with the Girl Scouts? They've got quite an organization for your darling daughter. Or are you just looking for a little extra publicity, and extra cash? Besides, little girls aren't crazy for camping, bugs, worms, spiders, etc. That's a boy's domain. There's always somebody out there causing a commotion, trying to change this or that. C'mon, leave the Scouts alone. They are doing just great, thank you!

PROFESSOR DUKE!... Yupp! The Duke is now a dispenser; a dispenser of knowledge that is. He's teaching Political Science? No question about it, he's had the experience to say the least. I guess his main theme would be telling the kids "What Not to Do - Being a Politician -" Good luck, Mr. Dukakis. You've landed a plum of a job. Don't they ALWAYS?...

INSECT REPELLANT?... Blend a couple of very hot peppers, half an onion and 1 clove garlic in 2 cups warm water. Boil, steep for 2 days and filter through a cloth. (Now what do you do with it? Spray it? Drink it? Let it ferment?...Just be careful somebody doesn't accidentally mix it with the spaghetti sauce? Good Grief!

GOOD OL' UNCLE SID!... Sid McKeen that is..."A faithful Red Sox player is reduced to prayer!" We like that Sid!

HEARD THE LATEST?- The day is coming when all games, baseball, football, etc. will be on a "pay as you go" format. Huh! Would you shell out to watch the Red Sox, Patriots? In my opinion, no way, Jose! But a lot of good people are shelling out $25 to $30 dollars to watch "Rasslin"...mental deficiency on their part! But, what the heck, it's good theatrics and very comical. They never said that "rasslin" was for real! Ho-Ho! "Rasslin" is as American as apple pie, the flag, and taxes!

SKUNK(S) OF THE MONTH AWARD has to be given to those bozos in Washington who just voted themselves a $23,000 dollar raise! The nerve of them! It's embarrassing and uncalled for! They seem to be in a world of their own, which is a much different world, lifestyle from ours! Who voted for them? Who will throw the bums out in the next election? Who do we have to replace them? It seems as though ya throw one shyster out, there's always another to replace 'em. The salary, plus all those benefits they are receiving, is nothing but a raid on the Treasury. Not all shysters are in jail; there are still a lot on the loose!

WELL FRIENDS, we did it again, at least we tried to. Such a mixed up world we live in! But we will take one day at a time, keep an eye on the shysters, and pray that God will truly bless America! But do we really deserve His blessings? Hang in there friends, better days are ahead!

GOD BLESS...YOUR PAL,

Joe

The world according to us.

It's a small place, our world.
It's made up of nearby communities and farms and neighbors we know by name.
Our headquarters are here. All our business is here.
And our interests and loyalties are here.
We're an independent community bank — and we have one purpose: to take care of our small world.
Your deposits with us are invested locally — in loans to your neighbors and communities. They're not invested somewhere else — for somebody else's benefit.
This area is our world, and you and your neighbors are the only people in it.
That makes us unworldly, doesn't it?
You bet it does.

12 alternatives to lashing out at your kid.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out—STOP! And try any of these simple alternatives.

You'll feel better . . . and so will your child.

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult . . .
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
6. Phone a friend.
7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
9. Hug a pillow.
10. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
11. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
12. Write for prevention information: National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, Box 2866L, Chicago, IL 60690.

Stop using words that hurt. Start using words that help.

Another Point of View

Did You Ever Save a Life?

By Lawrence Moore

On his regular rounds delivering "MEALS ON WHEELS," a volunteer found his client bleeding profusely, lying on the floor, unable to summon help. The volunteer driver called an ambulance and the police. He was told that his timely appearance and quick action had saved the client's life.

On her regular rounds, a volunteer driver got no response to her ringing and knocking. She sought out the building caretaker. Together, with a pass key, they entered the apartment and found the client locked in the bathroom. Forcing the door, they found the client lying on the floor unable to move. More shocked than hurt, the client was helped to relax and put to bed. Had the volunteer not arrived, the client would have been on the floor, unattended, all weekend, with who knows what consequences.

On Hurricane Bob Tuesday, a volunteer driver found an elderly client who had no electricity, and, because of the storm, no food. The client, ravishingly hungry, ate the meal immediately.

Not all volunteer visits are as crucial as these, but every volunteer meal carried [illegible] that is usually a [illegible] the ability to safeguard [illegible] on Wheels, would exist on breakfast food, crackers, junk, and, at best, fast food. Meals on Wheels volunteers bring to those unable to get out and to take care of themselves, nutritious, balanced and appetizing hot lunches. Frozen meals are available for emergencies.

Proper nutrition makes a difference in the outlook and spirit of elders. But, just as important, the volunteer is the contact for a home-bound elder with other people. Clients greet the volunteers as friends, sometimes the only ones they see.

Volunteers cut food, set places, get mail and chat, a break in the elder's monotony. Frequently flowers are donated and brought by the volunteer. Young school children make and send cards for holidays, cards many elders would never receive otherwise. One child made a card in the shape of a necktie and sent it to an elder. Inside was scribbled, "Would you like to be my adopted Grandpa?"

Aside from the thanks the volunteers get is a bond that frequently grows with friendship, yes and even love. And why not? Too often the volunteer driver is the homebound elder's only respite from isolation and loneliness.

If God has been good to you, and if you are able to drive, wouldn't you like to bring meals to a home bound elder? Wouldn't you get satisfaction from sharing an hour or two with people less fortunate? Couldn't you enjoy the blessings of your clients (and of God) for what you are doing to help those unable to help themselves?

If you have the time and are able and willing to help, call your Council on Aging. Volunteer drivers are reimbursed for milage and [illegible] a complimentary lunch.

[illegible] care, give a little. You'll sleep better and feel better.
